

Sick Headache.

Neuralgia and Extreme Nervousness.

EVER since I was eighteen years old until I learned of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, I suffered from sick headache and extreme nervousness and dyspepsia. In time heart disease developed. I was treated by several doctors with no relief. Severe palpitation with pain in left breast, shortness of breath, and smothering spells made me most miserable. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure and took them alternately. Improvement began at once and increased so rapidly that inside of six months I increased thirty six pounds in weight. All pain in the heart is gone, and the nervousness has wholly left me.

The Improved Streets.

The work on the brick streets, excepting the two blocks along the B & O. S. W. railroad, was completed today.
The work has proceeded quite rapidly and in a very satisfactory manner.
The Capitol Paving Co. has certainly given the city a good job of work and at a price much lower than is usually paid for such improvement.

TO-DAYS' ELECTION.

Passing Off Quietly Here.—Rather a Light Vote Being Polled.

The special election today is passing off quietly in Jackson township. All morning the vote came in slowly. Up to noon not more than one fourth of the vote of the township was in. At the noon hour however they came in more rapidly and as we go to press the indications are that about three fourths of the vote of the township will be polled.
The per cent of the stay-at-home vote seems to be fairly well divided between the republicans and democrats. Neither party has been exerting as much energy of usual to get out a full vote.

The democrats are not so sanguine of victory as they were a few days ago while the republicans are hopeful as they have been of Major Lee's election.
Unless the vote is very close in the district it is probable that by midnight it will be known at both the republican and democratic headquarters who will succeed the late Judge Holman in congress.

THE 22D INDIANA.

SAW SOME HARD FIGHTING DURING
THE WAR.

A Brief Sketch of Its Organization and
The Principal Battles In Which It Engaged.

The 22d regiment Indiana Volunteers which holds its 20th annual reunion at Crothersville, Aug. 12, 13 and 14, wa-out for four years and saw many of the hardest fought battles of the war. The reports of Adjutant General Terrell show that, of all the regiments leaving Indiana and participating in the great rebellion, the losses in killed and wounded in action among the field and line officers of the 22d exceeded those of any other Indiana regiment. In the ranks the proportion was equally large. The 22d saw four years of service and was engaged in many of the hard fought battles of the war.

The regiment was organized at Madison, Ind., July 15, 1861, and was mustered for three years service at Indianapolis, Aug. 15, 1861. The commissioned officers of the regiment were:
Colonel, Jeff. C. Davis; Lieutenant Colonel, John A. Hendricks; Major, Go-don Tanner; Adjutant, Charles Ho-stetler, Jr.; Quartermaster, Emory Brall y.
Surgeon, Benj. F. Newland; Assistant Surgeon, Joseph A. Stillwell. The 1040 men who composed the regiment were mostly from the third congressional district as it was then constituted. Company A was organized from Jennings county; B from Jackson; C from Brown; D from Clark; E from Bartholomew;
F from Switzerland; G from Bartholomew;
H from Scott; I from Monroe; and K
from Jefferson.

On Aug. 17, 1861, the regiment left Indianapolis by rail for Missouri which was then the seat of active fighting. By an unfortunate misunderstanding on the night of Sept. 19 at Glasgow, Mo., the regiment lost its first killed, five in number, including Major Gordon Tanner. The firing was done by a picket line of another division of the Union forces as part of the 22d was going on detailed duty. Major Gordon was a lawyer of high ability and had been Reporter of Supreme Court of Indiana.

The first hard fighting which the regiment saw was at Pea Ridge, March 6, 7 and 8, 1862, where after some desperate fighting the confederate forces under Bragg were completely routed. In this battle the 22d bore a conspicuous part, losing 9 killed and 32 wounded, including Lieutenant Colonel J. A. Hendricks who fell mortally wounded in the first day's engagement.

The regiment then crossed Arkansas into Mississippi where it joined the besieging army at Corinth, five days before the evacuation of that place. It then joined in the pursuit under Pope. Later it was under command of Buell marching through Tennessee and Kentucky in the race with Bragg for Louisville.
Buell's army won the race reaching Louisville Sept. 27, 1862. Leaving there Oct. 1, it started in pursuit of Bragg's army and on Oct. 8 was in the bloody fight at Perryville where fifty per cent.
of the men engaged were lost among the dead being Lieutenant Colonel Isham Keith.

Moving into Tennessee, the regiment reached Nashville Nov. 28 where it remained until the advance movement was begun by Rosecrans in December.
On Dec. 31, 1862, and Jan. 1 and 2, 1863, the 22d occupied an important position on the right in the battle of Stone River, losing twelve killed, thirty-six wounded and thirty missing. After the battle the regiment was encamped near Murfreesboro until June 24 when the march toward Chattanooga began. The 22d was not in the battle of Chickama-uga, having been left to guard the left wing at Valley Head, but it took part in the famous charge up Mission Ridge, on
Nov. 25.

In February 1864 after having re-enlisted as a veteran regiment the 22d visited Indiana on a furlough and were cordially received at Indianapolis and welcomed in addresses by Governor Morton and others.

In the campaign of 1864, the regiment bore a distinguished part, marching with Sherman's army on the march to the sea from Chattanooga in May and engaged in the following battles: Tunnel Hill, May 7; Rocky Face Ridge, May 9; Resaca, May 15; Rome, May 17;

Red Oak, Aug. 20; Jonesboro, Sept. 1; and the skirmishing during the siege of Savannah from Dec. 16 to 21.

In the movement through the Carolinas, the 22d was engaged in the battle of Averysboro, March 16, 1865, and in the last engagement of Sherman's army at Bentonville, March 19, 1865. After the surrender of Johnston's army the regiment moved with its corps—the Fourteenth—through Virginia to Washington, D. C., where early in June 1865 it was mustered out of service. On returning to Indiana it was publicly received by the citizens of Indianapolis and on June 16, 1865, was addressed by Governor Morton, General Hovey and others, after which it was finally discharged from the service.

The record shows that the regiment lost by killed in battle fourteen commissioned officers and ninety-eight privates and non-commissioned officers.
One commissioned officer died from wounds and twenty-three privates and non-commissioned officers, making a total loss directly from battles, of 156 men.

John P. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is no newspaper in the United States that has done more for the people than the Cincinnati Enquirer; and a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John P. McLean. The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as use of greater magnitude.

Famous Springs At Deer Park.

A million and a half gallons of the purest water on earth is the daily outflow of the famous Boiling Springs in Garrett county, Maryland, reached via the B. & O. S. W. R'y. In order that nothing can contaminate the springs, one hundred acres of land surrounding it are fenced in. In addition, a wire building covers the springs, so that leaves cannot fall into the water. It is from these extraordinary springs that Deer Park Hotel receives its water supply, the water being piped direct to the hotel. The medical fraternity now concede that in the matter of health the question of pure water stands at the head and front. No summer resort combines so many healthful features. The air is wonderfully pure and invigorating; cool nights, with absolutely no mosquitoes; the finest cuisine, with perfect sanitary arrangements, makes Deer Park Hotel the ideal resort.

For dates of special low rates to this health-giving resort see Agents B. & O. W. R'y.

The "Big Four Route" is well known to the "Boys in Blue" and is their favorite route to all national encampments. The very low rate of one cent per mile each way will be in effect on all parts of its system and the superior train service to Buffalo from Peoria, St. Louis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus and intermediate points via Cleveland, or via Toledo and Detroit has placed the "Big Four" in the lead. Full information will be cheerfully furnished by any agent upon application.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1861, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 16th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa. Sold by C. W. Milhouse, the druggist.

THE DIAMOND'S HOME

THE IMMENSELY RICH FIELD OF WHICH KIMBERLEY IS THE CENTER.

Wonderful Abundance of Jewels In A Very Small Area—The Peculiar Formations Which Surround and Lie Above the Diamonds—How They Are Taken.

Before the Kimberley mines were discovered most of the diamonds added to the world's stock came from either Hindustan or from Brazil. The largest deposits were found in Golconda, in the Hyderabad territory, and in Minas Geraes, in Brazil. The African discoveries first showed scientific men what the origin and native place of the diamond really were. In the Indian and Brazilian fields it was plainly not native to the soil and was picked up out of differing formations. In South Africa it was found in a rotten rock, apparently forming part of the earth's crust, and not a mere superficial deposit, as the others had been. The great mines in this region, according to a correspondent of the London Standard, are situated within a circle about 3½ miles in diameter. There are five principal mines, the largest being only about 45 acres in extent. They are the famous Kimberley, Bultfontein, De Beers, Du Toit's Pan and Wesselton mines. They are of fabulous richness. Here the town of Kimberley has sprung up.

The district is about 4,000 feet above sea level and lies at the northern edge of a plateau which extends from the Bokkeveld mountains, near the cape of Good Hope, to the border of the Transvaal. There are mines in the Orange Free State, two being of considerable note, one 30, the other 60 miles away, with several more of less importance both there and in the Kimberley district. The river washings are still continued, but the yield of gems from them is not very rich or steady. Mining in the rock was carried on at first in a rough and ready fashion, but all that has changed. In most parts of the district, after clearing away some feet of surface soil the excavator comes upon a dark, coaly shale 100 feet or more thick. Beneath this lies a mass of igneous rock allied to basalt, more or less thick. Beneath this is a mass of hard sandstone. But here and there instead of the shale, though surrounded by it, like a pond in a field, is a mass of curious rotten stuff, in which sometimes fragments of shale and sometimes hard mineral grains can be seen.

This at first is of a rusty yellowish color. Then in about 100 feet it turns to a dull green and becomes a little more solid—sometimes distinctly harder than dry clay. The two rocks are identical in origin, but the upper or "yellow ground" is more decomposed than the lower or "blue ground." Gradually the rock ceases to yield to spade or pick. It has to be quarried in the usual way and is quite as hard as a bit of good limestone. It has now quite a different appearance, seeming to consist largely of fragments, varying in shape and size, some angular, some rounded, from at least two inches in diameter down to very small grains. Some evidently are pieces of rock, others are minerals (often broken, but occasionally looking like crystals). All these are set in a dark greenish colored matrix. This, then—whether rotten or solid—is the diamond bearing rock. It seems to fill huge pipes or shafts, which somehow or other have been driven or "punched" through the shale and underlying rocks, and these go vertically downward to what distance is unknown, but certainly not less than 1,500 feet.

At first the material was "pegged out" in a number of small claims, and the soft stuff was comparatively easy to work, but by degrees many difficulties arose. As the excavations were deepened the claims were with difficulty kept separate. Slips and falls of material were constantly occurring, not only in the "pipe" itself, but from the "country rock" at its side. Water became troublesome and working expensive. Co-operation and command of capital were soon absolute necessities.

About 1880 the mines had been acquired by companies, and they are now united under the name of the De Beers Consolidated mines. Deep shafts have been sunk through the "country rock," from which levels are driven to the "pipes." The diamond bearing rock is quarried away, as it were, layer by layer and is taken up to the surface. During this process a diamond may be discovered, but that is a mere chance. The rock is then conveyed to an inclosure, where it is exposed to atmospheric action in order that, if possible, it may crumble naturally to pieces and the risk be avoided of splitting the contained diamonds by crushing it up. This, however, is sometimes necessary. At last, after being subjected to various processes, including washing, the mineral residue is picked over for diamonds.

The quantity of diamonds which have been produced by these mines is something astonishing. Indeed the directors find it difficult to limit the output lest they should glut the market. It is said that by the end of 1880 about ten tons of diamonds had been yielded by these mines, valued at £200,000,000. They would fill, as Crookes, the well known English scientist and lecturer, stated in a recent lecture on the diamond and these mines, a box 5 feet square and 6 feet high. The annual produce is now about half a ton, and some 8,000 persons, of whom rather more than one-fifth are white, are employed in the works. The above estimate includes diamonds of all kinds, bad and good, for one stone may be fit for nothing but cutting purposes, while another may be a gem of the first water. The South African diamonds very frequently appear to be broken. Colored specimens are not rare, and a slight yellow tinge is commonly perceptible. Differences exist between the diamonds found in the several mines, so that an expert can generally identify the locality from which a stone has come.

Every part of our body is momentarily wearing out and being built up anew. This work is done by the blood. Keep this vital fluid pure with Dr. Bull's Pills and health will prevail.

Diamonds In an Extinct Volcano.

An interesting discovery from a geological point of view was recently made by an explorer in the mountains of Witzies Hoek, Natal. On the summit of an extinct volcano, on the edge of a lake that occupies the crater, soundings revealed a layer of sand inclosing small diamonds. It would be interesting to know whether these diamonds were there accidentally—that is, as the result of washing operations carried on by the natives—or whether this discovery corresponds to an actual mine of diamonds, for the hills of Witzies Hoek are not situated in regions known to be diamond bearing. On the last hypothesis the presence of precious stones in the crater of a volcano would doubtless throw some light on the formation of the gems in nature.—Genie Civil.

Passing Off Quietly Here.—Rather a Light
Vote Being Polled.

The special election today is passing
off quietly in Jackson township. All morning the vote came in slowly. Up
to noon not more than one fourth of the vote of the township was in. At the noon hour however they came in more rapidly and as we go to press the indications are that about three fourths of the vote of the township will be polled.
The per cent of the stay-at-home vote
seems to be fairly well divided between
the republicans and democrats. Neither party has been exerting as much energy of usual to get out a full vote.

The democrats are not so sanguine
of victory as they were a few days ago
while the republicans are hopeful as they have been of Major Lee's election.
Unless the vote is very close in the district it is probable that by midnight it will be known at both the republican
and democratic headquarters who will succeed the late Judge Holman in congress.

THE 22D INDIANA.

THE WAR.

A Brief Sketch of Its Organization and
The Principal Battles In Which It Engaged.

The 22d regiment Indiana Volunteers which holds its 20th annual reunion at Crothersville, Aug. 12, 13 and 14, wa-
out for four years and saw many of the hardest fought battles of the war. The reports of Adjutant General Terrell
show that, of all the regiments leaving Indiana and participating in the great
rebellion, the losses in killed and wounded in action among the field and line
officers of the 22d exceeded those of any other Indiana regiment. In the ranks the proportion was equally large. The 22d saw four years of service and was engaged in many of the hard fought battles of the war.

The regiment was organized at Madison, Ind., July 15, 1861, and was mustered for three years service at Indianapolis, Aug. 15, 1861. The commissioned officers of the regiment were:
Colonel, T. C. Davis; Lieutenant, Colonel, John A. Hendricks; Major, Go-don Tanner; Adjutant, Charles Ho-steel, Jr.; Quartermaster, Emory Brailly; Surgeon, Benj. F. Newland; Assistant
Surgeon, Joseph A. Stillwell. The 1049
men who composed the regiment were
mostly from the third congressional district as it was then constituted. Company A was organized from Jennings
county; B from Jackson; C from Brown;
D from Clark; E from Bartholomew;
F from Switzerland; G from Bartholomew;
H from Scott; I from Monroe; and K
from Jefferson.

On Aug. 17, 1861, the regiment left Indianapolis by rail for Missouri which was then the seat of active fighting. By an unfortunate misunderstanding on the night of Sept. 19 at Glasgow, Mo., the regiment lost its first killed, five in number, including Major Gordon Tan-
ner. The firing was done by a picket
line of another division of the Union
forces as part of the 22d was going on detailed duty. Major Gordon was a lawyer of high ability and had been Reporter of Supreme Court of Indiana.

The first hard fighting which the regiment saw was at Pea Ridge, March 6, 7
and 8, 1862, where after some desperate
fighting the confederate forces under Bragg were completely routed. In this battle the 22d bore a conspicuous part
losing 9 killed and 32 wounded, including Lieutenant Colonel J. A. Hendricks who fell mortally wounded in the first day's engagement.

The regiment then crossed Arkansas
into Mississippi where it joined the besieging army at Corinth, five days before the evacuation of that place. It then joined in the pursuit under Pope. Later it was under command of Buell marching through Tennessee and Kentucky
in the race with Bragg for Louisville.
Buell's army won the race reaching
Louisville Sept. 27, 1862. Leaving there
Oct. 1, it started in pursuit of Bragg's army and on Oct. 8 was in the bloody
fight at Perryville where fifty per cent.
of the men engaged were lost among the dead being Lieutenant Colonel Isham Keith.

Moving into Tennessee, the regiment
reached Nashville Nov. 28 where it remained until the advance movement
was begun by Rosecrans in December.
On Dec. 31, 1862, and Jan. 1 and 2, 1863,
the 22d occupied an important position
on the right in the battle of Stone River, losing twelve killed, thirty-six
wounded and thirty missing. After the battle the regiment was encamped near Murfreesboro until June 24 when the march toward Chattanooga began. The 22d was not in the battle of Chickama-uga, having been left to guard the left wing at Valley Head, but it took part in the famous charge up Mission Ridge, on
Nov. 25.

In February 1864 after having re-enlisted as a veteran regiment the 22d visited Indiana on a furlough and were cordially received at Indianapolis and
welcomed in addresses by Governor Morton and others.

In the campaign of 1864, the regiment
bore a distinguished part, marching
with Sherman's army on the march to the sea from Chattanooga in May and
engaged in the following battles: Tunnel Hill, May 7; Rocky Face Ridge,
May 9; Resaca, May 15; Rome, May 17;

at Bentonville, March 19, 1865. After the surrender of Johnston's army the
regiment moved with its corps—the Fourteenth—through Virginia to Washington, D. C., where early in June 1865
it was mustered out of service. "On returning to Indiana it was publicly received by the citizens of Indianapolis
and on June 16, 1865, was addressed by Governor Morton, General Hovey and
others, after which it was finally discharged from the service.

The records show that the regiment lost by killed in battle fourteen commissioned officers and ninety-eight privates and non-commissioned officers.
One commissioned officer died from
wounds and twenty-three privates and non-commissioned officers, making a total loss directly from battles, of 136
men.

John P. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is no paper in the United States that is so popular as the Enquirer. It is a more successful publisher than any other paper in the country. Its circulation has been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as in those of greater magnitude.

Famous Springs At Deer Park.

A million and a half gallons of the purest water on earth is the daily outflow of the famous Boiling Springs in Garrett county, Maryland, reached via the B. & O. S. W. R'y. In order that nothing can contaminate the springs, one hundred acres of land surrounding it are fenced in. In addition, a wire building covers the springs, so that leaves cannot fall into the water. It is from these extraordinary springs that Deer Park Hotel receives its water supply, the water being piped direct to the hotel. The medical fraternity now concede that in the matter of health the question of pure water stands at the head and front. No summer resort combines so many healthful features. The air is wonderfully pure and invigorating; cool nights, with absolutely no mosquitoes; the finest cuisine, with perfect sanitary arrangements, makes Deer Park Hotel the ideal resort.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1861, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, Henry Steinberger, Allentown, Pa. Sold by C. W. Milhouse, the druggist.

THE IMMENSELY RICH FIELD OF WHICH KIMBERLEY IS THE CENTER.

Before the Kimberley mines were discovered most of the diamonds added to the world's stock came from either Hindustan or from Brazil. The largest deposits were found in Golconda, in the Hyderabad territory, and in Minas Geraes, in Brazil. The African discoveries first showed scientific men what the origin and native place of the diamond really were. In the Indian and Brazilian fields it was plainly not native to the soil and was picked up out of differing formations. In South Africa it was found in a rotten rock, apparently forming part of the earth's crust, and not a mere superficial deposit, as the others had been. The great mines in this region, according to a correspondent of the London Standard, are situated within a circle about 3½ miles in diameter. There are five principal mines, the largest being only about 45 acres in extent. They are the famous Kimberley, Bullfontein, De Beers, Du Toits Pan and Wesselsfontein mines. They are of fabulous richness. Here the town of Kimberley has sprung up.

The district is about 4,000 feet above sea level and lies at the northern edge of a plateau which extends from the Bokkeveld mountains, near the cape of Good Hope, to the border of the Transvaal. There are mines in the Orange Free State, two being of considerable note, one 30, the other 60 miles away, with several more of less importance both there and in the Kimberley district. The river washings are still continued, but the yield of gems from them is not very rich or steady. Mining in the rock was carried on at first in a rough and ready fashion, but all that has changed. In most parts of the district, after clearing away some feet of surface soil the excavator comes upon a dark, conchoidal shale 100 feet or more thick. Beneath this lies a mass of igneous rock allied to basalt, more than three times as thick, and that is succeeded by a blackish shale, with bands of hard sandstone. But here and there instead of the shale, though surrounded by it, like a pond in a field, is a mass of curious rotten stuff, in which sometimes fragments of shale and sometimes hard mineral grains can be seen.

This at first is of a rusty yellowish color. Then in about 100 feet it turns to a dull green and becomes a little more solid—sometimes distinctly harder than dry clay. The two rocks are identical in origin, but the upper or "yellow ground" is more decomposed than the lower or "blue ground." Gradually the rock ceases to yield to spade or pick. It has to be quarried in the usual way and is quite as hard as a bit of good limestone. It has now quite a different appearance, seeming to consist largely of fragments, varying in shape and size, some angular, some rounded, from at least two inches in diameter down to very small grains. Some evidently are pieces of rock, others are minerals (often broken, but occasionally looking like crystals). All these are set in a dark greenish colored matrix. This, then—whether rotten or solid—is the diamond bearing rock. It seems to fill huge pipes or shafts, which somehow or other have been driven or "punched" through the shale and underlying rocks, and these go vertically downward to what distance is unknown, but certainly not less than 1,500 feet.

At first the material was "pegged out" in a number of small claims, and the soft stuff was comparatively easy to work, but by degrees many difficulties arose. As the excavations were deepened the claims were with difficulty kept separate. Slips and falls of material were constantly occurring, not only in the "pipe" itself, but from the "country rock" at its side. Water became troublesome and working expensive. Cooperation and command of capital were soon absolute necessities.

About 1880 the mines had been acquired by companies, and they are now united under the name of the De Beers Consolidated mines. Deep shafts have been sunk through the "country rock," from which levels are given to the "pipes." The diamond bearing rock is quarried away, as it were, layer by layer and is taken up to the surface. During this process a diamond may be discovered, but that is a mere chance. The rock is then conveyed to an inclosure, where it is exposed to atmospheric action in order that, if possible, it may crumble naturally to pieces and the risk be avoided of splitting the contained diamonds by crushing it up. This, however, is sometimes necessary. At last, after being subjected to various processes, including washing, the mineral residue is picked over for diamonds.

The quantity of diamonds which have been produced by these mines is something astonishing. Indeed the directors find it needful to limit the output lest they should glut the market. It is said that by the end of 1892 about ten tons of diamonds had been yielded by these mines, valued at £60,000,000. They would fill, as Crookes, the well known English scientist and lecturer, stated in a recent lecture on the diamond and these mines, a box five feet square and six feet high. The annual product is now about half a ton, and some 8,000 persons, of whom rather more than one-fifth are white, are employed in the works. The above estimate includes diamonds of all kinds, bad and good, for one stone may be fit for nothing but cutting purposes, while another may be a gem of the first water. The South African diamonds very frequently appear to be broken. Colored specimens are not rare, and a slight yellow tinge is commonly perceptible. Differences exist between the diamonds found in the several mines, so that an expert can generally identify the locality from which a stone has come.

Every part of our body is momentarily wearing out and being built up anew. This work is done by the blood. Keep this vital fluid pure with Dr. Bull's Pills and health will prevail.

Diamonds in an Extinct Volcano.

An interesting discovery from a geological point of view was recently made by an explorer in the mountains of Witzieshoek, Natal. On the summit of an extinct volcano, on the edge of a lake that occupies the crater, soundings revealed a layer of sand inclosing small diamonds. It would be interesting to know whether these diamonds were there accidentally—that is, as the result of washing operations carried on by the natives—or whether this discovery corresponds to an actual mine of diamonds, for the hills of Witzieshoek are not situated in regions known to be diamond bearing. On the last hypothesis the presence of precious stones in the crater of a volcano would doubtless throw some light on the formation of the gems in nature.—Genie Civil.
